INTRODUCTION AND GUIDE

Purpose

Free place grants are offered to help guarantee parents' rights to have their children educated at private primary schools through grants to reduce the amount of school fees and the parental payment for after-school programmes, as well as to reduce the cost associated with residency in a boarding programme.

Allocation of free place grants

There are two portions to the grant model: the Secretariat of Allocation manages the allocation of free place grants to schools, and schools then manage the allocation of free place grants to the individual students.

Schools may be assigned free place grants based on the presence of applicants whose base income lies below the income thresholds set by the Secretariat of Allocation for this purpose. Parents' base incomes are calculated in accordance with §13 of the Order on Grants (please see below). If base income data cannot be obtained, preliminary income data will form the basis for grant calculations. All students who are enrolled and entitled to grants as of 5/9 of the school year may be considered by the Secretariat of Allocation for the purpose of free place grants for the applicable school year.

The school's free place grants will be allocated to students by the management of the school. The school's board of directors is responsible for the allocation process. The school is not obligated to follow the allocation guidelines of the Secretariat of Allocation but use of independent allocation methods/guidelines is contingent upon consideration being given to parents' economic situations, and the extent to which their municipalities of residence are providing parental payment grants.

Parents' addresses, children's addresses, parents' civil statuses, and numbers of siblings as of September 5th of the school year are essential to the free place grant calculations undertaken by the Secretariat of Allocation.

Biological/adoptive parents

Only biological/adoptive parents should be specified in the application. If a student has half-siblings for which free place grants are also sought, separate applications must be completed for each student.

Separation/divorce

Separation/divorce must be approved by authorities no later than September 5th of the school year to be taken into consideration for free place grant applications.

Declaration of consent

By signing the Declaration of consent, there is given consent to the Secretariat of Allocation retrieving personal data pertaining to economic conditions from the Danish Customs and Tax Administration (SKAT), as may be necessary for processing by the Secretariat of Allocation. This information will be handled confidentially and used by the Secretariat of Allocation for calculating free place grants for schools, and by schools for allocation of the assigned free place grants to students.

Personal data policy

In the Secretariat of Allocation's personal data policy, located on fskr.dk, you will find information regarding our procedures for processing your personal data. Furthermore, you can read about your rights as a registered party.

Order on Grants

§ 13. The assigned residency support, free place grants, and grants to reduce parental payments for after-school programmes is administered by the Secretariat of Allocation for private primary schools, in accordance with §17(1) of the law.

Subpar. 2. Free place grants may be assigned to students in preschool and in years 1 through 10. Grants to reduce the parental payment for after-school programmes may be assigned to students in preschool and in years 1 through 3. Residency support grants may be assigned to students in years 8 through 10. The issuing of free place grants and residency support grants is contingent upon the student not having reached the age of 18 years at the start of the school year. Students who turn 18 during a school year may receive grants for the remainder of that school year.

Subpar. 3. Residency support, free place grants, and grants to reduce the parental payment for after-school programmes shall be allocated to individual schools based on the parents' base incomes; cf. subpar. 7, calculated based on the income for the calendar year preceding the calendar year in which the school year begins.

Subpar. 4. Should the parents be married or have a common registered address (even if not married), financial support shall be calculated based on the parents' combined base income.

Subpar. 5. Should the parents be divorced, separated, or not married and without a common registered address, financial support shall be calculated based on the base income of the parent

1. who has custody, or
2. at whose address the student is officially registered if the parents have joint custody.

Subpar. 6. The parents' combined base income, cf. subpar. 4., or the base income of one parent, cf. subpar. 5, may be reduced for each of the student's siblings under the age of 18 at the beginning of the school year.

Subpar. 7. The parents' base income shall consist of personal income with addition of positive income from capital used for income tax calculations in accordance with §7 of the Personal Tax Act; however, prior to the minimum deduction and base amount deductions contained therein; with addition of income from shares, taxed in accordance with §8a(2).

Subpar. 8. The school's allocation of residency support, free place grants, and grants to reduce the parental payment for after-school programmes to individual students shall consider students' and parents' economic situations and the extent to which the municipality of residence is issuing grants for school fees or residency.

Subpar. 9. The criteria for allocation of residency support, free place grants, and grants to reduce the parental payment for after-school programmes shall be established by the Secretariat of Allocation for private primary schools.
